LANCASTER, GARRARD COUNTY.

—The annual meeting of the Mexican veterans resident in Lancaster was held on the 21st inst., in consequence of the 22d coming on Sunday. Capt. Charles Gallagher presided over the meeting; Capt. F. J. White acted as secretary and Gen. W. J. Landram furnished the customary anecdotes. The dinner was served up in elegant style by Mrs. Holmes, at the Mason Hotel. The table was adorned by a profusion of beautiful, fresh cut flowers, consisting of roses, hyacinths and carnation pinks, and all the delicacies of the season were spread out before the old soldiers, who showed their appreciation of the delicious repast by remaining at the table fully an hour. Under a special dispensation from the W. C. T. U., Mr. John Arnold kindly furnished some delicious champagne cider for the occasion, and at the conclusion of the feast each veteran was presented with a beautiful bouquet of fragrant flowers. Gen. W. J. Landram said that he considered Henry Clay, Jr., as one of the finest specimens of manhood that he ever looked upon. He was tall and of commanding appearance, resembling his father in many respects; courtly and dignified in his manners, yet kind and courteous in his demeanor and easily approached by any of the men of his command. He was lieutenant colonel of the infantry regiment commanded by Col. Wm. R. McKee and was killed in the charge on the 23d, at the same time McKee and Hardin fell at the head of their regiments. Clay was an utter stranger to fear and was endowed with all the high qualities of head and heart that characterized his illustrious father. Thomas F. Marshall, the great orator, statesman and scholar, was not in the battle, but on that first day's fight was delivering a 22d of February speech at Camargo, where his company was stationed. His gallantry was never called in question and if he had been at Buena Vista he would have been conspicuous as a leader. The territory added to the United States as a result of the Mexican war includes California, Nevada, Colorado, Arizona, Utah and New Mexico, the richest portion of our National domain.

Gen. Grant is known to have had a profound contempt for the retailer of vulgar anecdotes. Upon one occasion some one prefaced his remarks when about to tell an anecdote of this character by saying: "I see there are no ladies present." "No," said Gen. Grant, "but there are gentlemen present."

It is said that Napeleon, Columbus, Washington and Webster were all in early life book agents. Whether they possessed the indomitable perseverance and cheek of the modern agent is not stated, but they no doubt learned some lessons in patience that were useful to them as warriors and statesmen.

The Woodford Sun considers it high treason upon the part of the press to criticize the work of the con. con. When men seek public positions and undertake for a specified sum to discharge certain duties, those who do the paying and are interested in the result of the work to be performed have the undoubted right to inquire into the methods of their servants and to comment upon the manner of their performances. There was no law of the land compelling the gentlemen who have been selected as delegates to the convention to either ask or accept the positions they are filling. They had the right to remain at home if they chose and thus escape the criticism of the public.

It is said that in this world there is "no rest for the wicked." If this be true, there is no such thing as rest, for "there is none that is good, no, not one." But be this as it may, there are some who deserve rest, whether they get it or not; and one of these is E. C. Walton, of the INTERIOR JOURNAL. He deserves a trip to Virginia, or any other place he may choose to visit, for his labors in behalf of his paper have been arduous and indefatigable. No more courteous gentleman was ever sent forth as a representative of the press than E. C. Walton. Ever polite, deferential to the old, kind-hearted and respectful towards all he met, he won his way to popular favor seemingly without an effort. Long life and prosperity to Ed.

On the question of "woman's rights," Delegate Jonson said he did not know, like Ephraim of old, that he was joined to an idol, and did not believe that it was the idea of the committee that the rights of women should be superior to the rights of the "lords of creation," "of whom we are which." Here there ought to have been "applause" and Mr. Jonson ought to have had it inserted in imitation of some of our would-be statesmen, who superintend the printing of their own speeches. Continuing his remarkable remarks, he announced, with a consciousness of entire originality, the fact that "we are all fallible." This solemn statement was no doubt received with surprise by many of the members—especially those who were of the opinion that when they die, wisdom will have departed from the earth. But this was not enough for Statesman Jonson. He said: "I have heard that, in the beginning, man was created, and that after that creation there was found a necessity for another." It will be observed that he is careful enough to say that he had heard this and not that he had read it, and therein consisted his wisdom, for doubts might have been entertained as to whether he was familiar with the book in which an account of this transaction is given. But the philosophical peregrinations of Delegate Jonson were not to be compared with those of Delegate DeHaven, in which he sagely announced that when a man marries a woman and they have a family of children "they both play an important part in bringing them into existence." At this stage of the proceedings the convention ought to have adjourned; but it did not and Statesman Jonson was enabled to close the debate by saying: "If I had a wife and she owned property, I would thank her, and, perhaps, my lucky star that she had it." A beautiful and appropriate peroration for this speech would have been:

> If I had a donkey that wouldn't go,
> Do you think I'd wallop him, no, no, no;
> I'd give him some corn, and say gee ho,
> And good bye, donkey, go, go, go."

A glance at the record of the constitutional convention makes it somewhat difficult to determine whether that which some of the members do or that which they say is the most ridiculous. Mr. Funk favors holding all elections in November, notwithstanding the objections that will seriously interfere with the disposition of the watermelon crop and the sale of ginger cakes and cider by the good old copper-colored Dinahs, as it was in the days "befo' de wah." He said he "lived in the country some himself," the exact quantity of himself that lived in the country not being stated, and he thought a farmer had a better time to vote in November than in August. He did not believe there was any danger of a man's drinking too much on election day and falling by the wayside and freezing, if the election was in the month of November. He thought the good old corpulent, red faced doubling keg, who started to the polls in November, would be just as likely to reach home sober as though he had voted in August, and therein Mr. Funk was right, for the old beer barrel would undoubtedly get drunk if furnished with the liquor, just as well at one season of the year as another. Mr. Lassing, however, took an entirely different view of the subject. He wanted the election to remain in August, because it is "hallowed by memory and association." Right or wrong, he stood for the old way, and as the days are longest at that season of the year, the weak and infirm would have more time to get to the polls and the "dew and mist having been dissipated from the face of the earth," there would be less likelihood of the man who was not robust injuring his health in making the pilgrimage to deposit his ballot. He contended that November was the black month of the year, and that more deaths occurred and more diseases were engendered in that than in any other month in the whole year. This will be news to the hunters and fishermen of Kentucky, who consider November the most delightful month in the year for out-door sports.

Call For State Convention.

1st. That the convention to nominate democratic candidates for State offices, to be voted for at an election the first Monday in August, shall be held in the city of Louisville and convened at noon, 13th of May, 1891.

2d To select delegates to said State convention the basis of representation shall be one delegate for every 200 votes and fraction of 100 and over, polled for Cleveland and Thurman in 1888. [This will make 918 delegates.]

3d. That for the purpose of selecting delegates to the State convention, the democrats of each county shall assemble in mass meeting at the court-house of their respective counties, and the democrats of each legislative district of the city of Louisville at some central point within the district, to be designated by the district committee, at 2 o'clock P. M., Saturday, May 2, and choose delegates to the State convention.

4th. That all voters who have hitherto affiliated with, and acknowledged their first allegiance to, the democratic party, or pledge themselves to support the nominees of the democratic State convention, shall be permitted to participate in these meetings.

—Nelson Pyle, a farmer near New Albany, Ind., died Friday of hydrophobia. He was bitten by a rabid dog December 9, 1890.

—The census bureau estimates that the center of population, according to the count of June, 1890, is near Greensburg, Ind.

—Peter Helgren, a revivalist at Kingston, is under arrest for shooting at Miss Christian Peterson, who rejected his offers of love.

LONDON LAUREL COUNTY.

—Robert Brown, who has been very sick for several weeks, is on our streets again.

—A Swiss called at one of our stores Monday and inquired for a "louse rake." It was some time before the lady clerk could understand what he wanted.

—At a meeting of the town board Friday night Ex-Sheriff J. H. Pearl was appointed town marshal, J. T. Johnson having moved out of the town limits.

—County Clerk Scoville had a nail to accidentally strike his heel this week while breaking up kindling on a round of a chair and has been very lame over it since.

—Great interest is being taken by the students of Laurel Seminary in their debating society, which meets every Friday night. The flow of mountain oratory is more amusing than instructive.

—"Preacher" Brewer has bought out the stock of general merchandise belonging to Ed Hale and the grocery stock of J. T. Hatcher and will do business at the latter place. Mr. Hatcher will continue his barber shop at the same old stand.

—The Swiss have begun the erection of a handsome church on the Johnson addition to London. Every one of them seem to have an interest in it and when completed it will not only be quite an addition to the town, but a credit to the builders.

—Several parties who were supposed to know, were summoned before Police Judge Canifax last Friday for the purpose of learning of any of the recent violations of some of the town laws. If anything was found out we haven't heard of it.

—The city council has passed an ordinance against hogs having the privilege of running upon the streets. The order was voted upon at the last election of town officers and the hog was voted out, nevertheless I noticed an even dozen on the streets Sunday.

—The work on the streets is progressing slowly. The hands have not been paid off for several months and a good many have quit. The contractors have been working the "merchandise check" racket for all it was worth and it has got to be worth nothing.

—Steve Prewitt, recently of Rockcastle county, was arrested here Saturday on the charge of running something like a "blind tiger." His house was searched and two gallons of whisky found along with United States license to retail same. Trial Monday.

—Miss Bertha Wolfe, of Mitchell, Ind., formerly a teacher in Laurel Seminary, is on a visit to her many friends here. D. N. Williams, of Mt. Vernon, was here last week. S. A. Lovelace has been confined to his bed for several days with a rising in his head. It is feared that he may lose his hearing.

—London has more lawyers than any other town of its size (500) in the State. Here is a partial list: Judge R. Boyd, E. K. Wilson, J. D. Smith, R. L. Ewell, W. B. Catching, Edward Parker, W. S. Jackson, Richard Bowling, James Sparks, J. W. Jones, H. C. Eversole, T. J. Canifax, W. L. Brown, W. T. Mornan, R. B. Craft and W. R. Ramsey. Some names may have been left out, but if they have they will be mentioned in our next.

DEATHS DOINGS.

—A. L. Jones, a civil engineer, formerly of Pulaski, died at Jellico.

—The death of Dr. W. E. Sallee, of Flat Rock, brother of J. W. Sallee, formerly of this county, was not as as sudden as at first reported. He died of la grippe, says the Somerset Reporter. He was a good physician and a popular gentleman.

—In response to a telegram Undertaker Mack Huffman expressed a casket to Mt. Vernon yesterday. It was for little Mattie Mason Adams, the unusually bright daughter of Mr. J. T. Adams, of Bryantsville, who was with her in her last moments. Her disease was pneumonia.

—Mrs. Martha Burns, who was recently taken to the asylum at Lexington, died there last week and her remains were brought home Friday by her brother, David Scott. About a year ago Mrs. Burns suffered a malarial spell and since then had never been well. Indications that her mind was impaired began to show themselves and it was not long before it became entirely deranged. Her hallucination was that she had committed some terrible crime and that she had to kill herself to attone for it. She was about 55 years of age and was a life-long member of the Goshen Christian church. Four children, the youngest 12 years old, survive her.

—Henry Meffert, who tried to shoot his sweetheart, Mary Koenig in a fit of jealousy, was married to her in the Louisville jail Friday. Moffert put his hand through the bars and the ceremony that made them man and wife disposed of. An understanding has been reached and the operators will allow a student at every office where it is thought practicable.

—The bill to establish postal savings banks has been favorably reported.

GEORGE GREEN BOONE.

When we requested the family to secure for us a picture of the old gentleman, whose name heads this article, to go with the list of Lincoln county men, who had passed four-score, we did not think that the cut would accompany his obituary. But life is always uncertain, the more especially when his advanced age is reached.

Mr. Boone was born in Fayette county, November 25th, 1810. His father, for whom he was named, was originally a Baptist preacher, but when the split came he united with the Reform church, the son following his example at an early age. In 1832 the subject of this sketch married Miss Susan Moore, of Fayette, and to them was born one daughter, who is now Mrs. Margaret A. Graves, of Woodford county. About 1838, Mr. Boone moved to the neighborhood of Camp Dick Robinson, Garrard county, where his wife shortly afterwards died. He lived in Garrard till his second marriage in 1842, when he led to the altar Miss Pattie Owsley Baughman, daughter of Hamilton Baughman, Esq., of this county. He then bought the farm on Dix River, in this county, upon which he lived till his death, which occurred of softening of the brain, Feb. 15, 1891. By the second marriage there were four children, three of whom, Mrs. A. R. Penny, Mrs. David Scott and H. B. Boone, survive. His last wife preceded him to the tomb some six years, her death occurring May 23, 1884.

Mr. Boone never aspired to office believing that the post of honor is the private station. The soul of honor and a christian in deed and in truth, he led a blameless and exemplary life and died as he had lived, possessed of the respect and confidence of his neighbors and anticipating a happy resurrection. A very large assemblage of friends gathered at Goshen to hear Eld. J. G. Livingston preach the funeral sermon, after which they followed the remains to Buffalo cemetery, to assist in paying the last tribute of respect to the honorable and upright man, who had been their friend and to many a benefactor of them.

CHURCH AFFAIRS.

—A deputy sheriff levied on the furnishings of the Englewood, Ill., Presbyterian church while prayer-meeting was in session.

—In 1890, 46 churches were built in Ohio at a cost of $247,000. At this rate those benighted people ought soon to become christians.

—A good deal of unfavorable comment is being made on the fact that a Catholic priest administered the sacrament of supreme unction to Gen. Sherman while he was in an unconscious condition.

—The meeting at the Colored Baptist church, Somerset, held by Rev. J. W. Lackey, of this county, had 41 additions. The Republican says that Mr. Lackey resigned as pastor of the church after a faithful service of seven years.

—Rev. J. D. Walsh and Miss Adelaide Sherman have been conducting a revival at the M. E. church, Somerset, says the Reporter, which has resulted in 35 confessions. As many as 50 young persons are at the mourners' bench for prayers at once.

—According to the Methodist Year Book for 1891, the Methodist Episcopal Church now has 2,236,473 members, 13,279 itinerant ministers and 22,103 churches. The same authority gives the number of Methodists of all branches in this country at 4,980,240.

—Trinity church, in the busy center of New York City, is among the remarkable religious institutions of the country. It was dedicated 194 years ago, and the building then used occupied the present site. This building was burned in 1776 and rebuilt in 1778. The second edifice stood until 1839, and was pulled down to give place to the present one, said to be the finest specimen of Gothic architecture in America. The dust of many famous men repose in Trinity Churchyard.

—Rev. John Bell Gibson preached an appropriate sermon to his congregation Sunday, in view of the fact that the next Lord's day is set apart by the Christian church for collections for foreign missions. He said that whether justly or not his members had the reputation of being stingy and close in financial matters and urged them to get rid of it if true, giving five or six excellent reasons for liberality to the missionary cause. At the conclusion of the sermon Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Moberly presented a letter from the Kirksville church and asked to be received into the membership here, which was granted.

Choice Blue-Grass Farm

FOR SALE.

I will sell privately, at a bargain, my farm at Crab Orchard, Lincoln county, Ky.

This farm, formerly known as the Jacob Guest home-stead, contains in prime condition, and well improved, lying partly in the limits of the town of Crab Orchard, on the L. & N. R. R.

280 Acres Excellent Land,

The farm is divided nearly equally by the pike leading South from town, there being 175 acres on the East side on which is the mansion house, a large, roomy and well-built brick of 7 rooms, besides kitchen, servant's house, stable, &c., and on the West side 105 acres, which has also a comfortable frame residence, out-houses, &c.

I will sell the place as a whole, or if desired will sell either of the tracts singly. Either will make an elegant and comfortable home, convenient to schools, churches, good turnpikes and the railroad.

Persons desirous of inspecting the place will be shown over it by James Hays, now residing on the premises. For terms apply or address me at Danville, Ky.

97-tf JAS. W. GUEST.

Farm For Sale.

I desire to sell my farm of about 130 acres, situated about 1¼ miles north of Stanford on the Rush Branch pike, opposite the old church. There are about 50 acres in wheat and rye; the balance of the farm well set in timothy. Good dwelling of four rooms and kitchen and a splendid new barn; is well watered and fenced. Possession can be given immediately. For particulars, see J. P. Bailey, Stanford, or write the undersigned at Cincinnati, Ohio. E. WITHERS.

SEMI-WEEKLY INTERIOR JOURNAL

STANFORD, KY - FEBRUARY 24 189

W. P. WALTON.

THE New York Post makes the statement on what it claims is the highest authority that Mr. Cleveland has irrevokably determined not to permit his name to go before the national convention for the presidency. More than 30 days ago, it says, he announced his determination to his intimate friends, who used every argument to induce him to change his mind, without avail. He was fixed and unalterable, and while he assured his friends that he felt as keen an interest in the success of the democratic party as ever before and would respond to any reasonable call upon him in future, he emphasized that it must be as a private in the ranks and not as a candidate. The rank and file of the democracy everywhere will hope there is some mistake about this. Mr. Cleveland has too strong a hold on the people for them to permit him to stay in retirement.

P. S. Mr. Cleveland emphatically denies that he has said anything about the presidency and pronounces the publication a newspaper sensation. When told that the information had been received through Ex-Secretary Whitney he said he did not believe it. The whole thing seems to have been gotten up for the purpose of injuring Mr. Cleveland's prospects for the nomination, but it died a' borning.

INGALLS has resigned the temporary presidency of the Senate, which body he says is "the most dignified, the most important and the most influential legislative assembly in the world." As Mr. Ingalls has been discharged after March 1, the resignation is for the purpose of permitting the election of some one else to preside over the great body in the absence of Mr. Morton. Whatever may be said of Ingalls it can not be charged that he ever used his position as presiding officer to throttle the minority. He was always fair and took no advantage to carry a point.

As will be seen by the official action published in this paper, the convention to nominate candidates for State officers will be held May 13, delegates to which are to be chosen in all the counties at their court-houses at 2 P. M., May 2. All the candidates, including those in the con. con., are said to be pleased with the date. The latter have the advantage of the others. They can travel on their free railroad passes and draw their per diem while working on their fences in various parts of the State.

THEY had a h. o. t. in the House again Saturday. An attempt was made to falsify the journal and to prevent it the democrats endeavored to break the quorum. Reed counted them all the same and appeals for correction caused the row. Several hours were spent in the wrangle, when Reed was deserted by his own men for his proven duplicity to one and the democrats carried their point by forcing an adjournment.

EX-GOV. FOSTER, of Ohio, better known as "Calico Charley," has been named by "Kid Glove" Ben to fill the important office of Secretary of the treasury, made vacant by the death of Mr. Windom. Foster is hardly equal to the occasion, but Benjamin wants Ohio's vote for the nomination to succeed himself and "Calico" is somewhat of a boss in the Buckeye State.

OF the 45,233 convicts serving sentences in the U. S., only 13,715 are native whites. The rest are about evenly divided between the foreign born element and the colored population. The increase of convicts since the last census has been only 13 to the million, showing that the world is not getting worse very fast, in spite of the oft repeated assertion.

THE clerks at Washington are having a picnic at public expense. In addition to the numerous holidays for which they draw pay, the departments are closed every time a real or imaginary great man dies, and so far this month they have had six holidays. A great deal of foolishness is indulged in as an alleged mark of respect.

IN discussing the divorce question the members of the con. con. quoted Scripture about as fluently as the devil did on one occasion. It seems to be the propensity of some people to talk most about that of which they know the least.

THE Kansas House reconsidered its action defeating the woman suffrage bill and passed it, to its discredit be it said. The bill carries with it the right to hold office and perform any other function in their power, heretofore only accorded to men.

THE 52d Congress has but 7 working days left and they cannot go too quickly. The country will breathe easier when the stroke of 12, March 4th, sounds its death knell.

WHEN a democrat is elected to Congress in Rhode Island, as Page was Saturday by 6,000 majority, things indeed have changed since Betsy died.

TO OLD VIRGINIA.

RICHMOND, VA., Feb. 21.—On each of the half dozen or more trips I have made to this place, I have endeavored in my own peculiarly feeble way to jot down a few notes incident to my journey and let the I. J.'s readers know what I have seen and heard. Unfortunately for the above referred to I. J. readers, my jottings, after a scrutiny, were admitted to a place on the copy hook rather than the waste basket, and now, encouraged by former liberality of the managing editor, I find myself preparing another dose for an unsuspecting but exceedingly clever public.

I left Stanford at noon Wednesday with several brothers of the great and growing order of Knights of Pythias for Lexington, where the 28th anniversary of that order was celebrated with much pomp and ceremony. The entire programme was a delightful one and fittingly wound up with a banquet that "laid over" anything of the kind I had seen for years and which I am told "laid out" more than one jolly, good member. It was a grand banquet and Roman punch followed eloquent toasts and vice versa, till the thought of the toasts were completely washed away with the delightful but deceptive beverage.

The K. of P's. having handed the city back to the mayor and councilmen and everything having resumed its natural quiet, I determined to seek a gayer place and took the first train out for Catlettsburg, the "high water" there being the attraction. An immense prevaricator had wired the various dailies that that city was gradually being washed away, and having a friend or so there, I determined to offer a helping hand. The report was of course a canard and notwithstanding the water was high, no damage had been done. My friends, I found, had a most excellent shelter, too, and were as snugly situated as they could wish.

Catlettsburg is a river town and is undoubtedly a good one. The amount of business done is surprising and the general appearance shows a decided spirit of progressiveness. She has a number of wholesale stores and besides other improvements, has a splendid electric light plant. I was very much taken with the place and my stay was made doubly pleasant by the kind attention of J. Fletch Marcum, an old newspaper man, and his pretty sister, Miss Maud. They were both untiring in their efforts to make my stay pleasant and that they did so, goes without saying.

Having a desire to visit the scenes of my childhood, I boarded the Fast Flying Virginian at a late hour and in a few moments was comfortably stretched on a "Pullman tower berth." This F. F. V. train is one of the finest on earth and is vestibuled from one end to the other. It carries a couple of Pullman sleepers, a chair car, a buffet car and several passenger coaches and is elegance itself in every department. Lighted by electricity, it can be made as light as day and really it reminds one more of a palace on wheels than a railroad train. It runs about 45 miles per hour and the trip from Lexington to Richmond, which I used to look at as tiresome and long, is now transformed to a delightfully pleasant one and not near long enough to tire the traveler in the least.

I saw nothing of consequence on the journey for at this season of the year the mountain country along the line of the C. & O. presents a dull and uninteresting scene. The absence of foliage causes the country to look exceedingly bare and desolate and a person necessarily has to seek other than sight-seeking to amuse himself.

At 2 P. M. Friday the F. F. V. pulled into the capital of the old Confederacy, and again I stood on the grand old State that gave me birth. It is a sweet pleasure to visit the home of youth and it matters not how long a time has elapsed, nor how forgetful one has been of the happenings during his childhood, a return to the land of his nativity will bring to memory a thousand thoughts that will cause him to pause awhile and think over the happy days spent, when innocence had the place now claimed by sad experience. Whether the first years of one's life are the happiest or not, will always remain a question, but it matters not, and so long as we are pleased with the present and find pleasure in looking back at the past, we deem life worth the living and the majority of us are more than willing to suffer out our three score years and ten.

Coming from the C. & O. depot the improvements that Richmond has been credited with are not apparent. In fact the town is growing westward and as my journey was through the eastern portion I am not yet prepared to say what historic old Richmond is doing for herself. However, as soon as the rain, which has fallen in torrents since my arrival, holds up a little, I will investigate matters and further punish the countless thousands who peruse the "cheapest and best," with a description of the changes that have been wrought in the couple of years since I was here.

I am most comfortably situated, the guest of an only sister, who is literally putting the "big pot in the little one" for my delectation and I can easily see that if my stay here is not an extremely pleasant one, it will be no fault of hers. However, this parading of personal and family affairs is not the "proper caper," and consequently I desist. E. C. W.

—The total western hog packing from Nov. 1 to date is 7,345,000, an increase of 1,120,000 hogs on last year.

—The Mississippi river is on a tear and the lowlands are submerged, causing great inlury and suffering.

—The captain and 17 sailors lost their lives in the wreck of the ship Elizabeth, north of San Francisco harbor.

—A tenement house in Brooklyn, in which 200 people lived, burned and seven of them lost their lives.

—More rains have sent the Ohio up again and 58 feet is expected at Cincinnati. Great suffering prevails along the river.

—Forty-eight gallons of nitro-glycerine exploded at Findlay, O., and shook the country for 40 miles around. No one was killed.

—In a battle at Tokar, Saturday, between the Egyptian forces and the rebels under Osman Digna, the latter were repulsed with a loss of over 700.

—Salt Lake City reports as an accompaniment of a snow storm a fall of salt, which covered the earth a fourth of an inch deep after the snow melted.

—Judge Scott rendered a decision in the Common Pleas Court at Winchester, sustaining the attachments against the estate of Hume Clay. They aggregate $75,000

—If Mr. Watterson sent that letter in his own handwriting to Governor Hill, all is explained. The governor got it, but didn't know what it was.—Memphis Commercial.

—Gen. Jos. E. Johnston was a pallbearer at Gen. Sherman's funeral. The two men were great friends, notwithstanding they fought each other so fiercely 25 years or more ago.

—Akron's largest paper bag factory burned and the Enterprise factory building went also. Total loss $140,000. In the latter building Miss Nettie Cruse, forewoman, was fatally burned.

—Gen. Barrundia's widow has filed papers in a suit against the United States for $1,000,000 for the killing of her husband by the agents of the Guatemalan government on board the steamer Acapulco.

—The Irwin Stove and Tin Company's store on Main street, Louisville, burned causing a loss of $30,000. W. H. Newman & Co., grocers, adjoining, suffered $20,000 damages, mostly covered by insurance.

—The New Haven express ran into a shop train in a tunnel near New York and another engine crushed into the wreck. Many people were wounded and five or more killed. The cars caught fire and most of them burned.

—Hansborough, the new United States Senator from North Dakota, was a tramp printer 12 years ago. That is not necessarily to his discredit. But the sad thing about him was that he set type so slovenly that he had to tramp.

—Miss Phoebe Coates, of Cleveland, who is accused by the wife of Wm. Brownell of causing her separation from her husband, was visited by the jealous wife, who threw the contents of a bottle of vitrol in her face. She was frightfully burned.

—A Vermont man kept violating the local option law by selling liquor to college students until finally, when the authorities proceeded in the matter, they had 715 cases against him. He got 60 years in jail and will probably not sell liquor for some days to come.

—John L. Sullivan cussed a waiter at Richmond, Va., hotel for not getting a sufficiently fast move on himself when he ordered something, when the waiter threw a cup of hot coffee on the pugilist and took to his heels. Sullivan pursued him to the top of the house, but finally gave up the race and took his anger out in cursing.

—The Trades Union of Chicago, not satisfied with the decision of the World's Fair management not to employ alien labor, now demand direct recognition of the unions and of the eight-hour day. It will be well enough for the committee to set down on these people in the start. The fair is not to be held for their especial benefit.

—Gen. Wolseley, who long ago said that Gen. R. E. Lee was the greatest general that our civil war turned out, remarked on being told of the death of Gen. Sherman that he could without prejudice "place Sherman next in rank of military power to Lee. In this opinion I am supported by the ablest European commanders."

—The House Coinage Committee decided by a vote of 8 to 4, to report the Senate Free Coinage Bill with a recommendation that it do not pass. Two compromises were proposed, the first for free coinage of the American product, and the second for purchases of $10,000,000 of silver for three months and $6,000,000 each month thereafter, but both were defeated.

Ashland Park Farm.

Mr. B. J. Treacy, of Lexington, says: "As to the merits of Quinn's Ointment, I regard it as a very useful medicine; has given very great satisfaction." For Curbs, Splints, Spavins, Windpuffs or any bunches it is invaluable.

PERSONAL POINTS.

MRS. STEELE BAILEY has been very ill of fever.

MR. A. H. SEVERANCE went to Louisville Friday.

MISS LEE BEAZLEY, of Garrard, is visiting Mrs. J. W. Ramsey.

MR. M. C. WILLIAMS, of Mt. Vernon, paid Stanford a business visit Friday.

MRS. JOHN W. ROUT, who has been down with malarial fever, is much better.

MRS. J. H. HUTCHINGS, of Crab Orchard, spent last week with Mrs. W. H. Murphy.

MESSRS. F. F. BOBBITT, J. C. King and W. H. Parsons, of the East End, were in town last evening.

MESSRS. W. H. HIGGINS and H. J. McRoberts went over to Midway yesterday to see Rev. A. S. Moffett and family.

MASTERSON PEYTON, ESQ., of the noted law firm of Ingersoll & Peyton, Knoxville, is here on a short business visit.

MR. C. F. STURTEVANT, of Knoxville, is here for the purpose of examining the ground and putting in a bid for the water works.

LETTERS received from Mrs. George O. Barnes, dated Feb. 4, Fones, Scotland, report her health much improved.—Louisville Times.

MR. B. G. PENNINGTON, of Middlesboro, was elected second vice-president of the Y. M. C. A. at the State meeting at Lexington.

THE Columbia Spectator says that Hon. R. C. Warren made a very favorable impression in Adair and will have a large following in that county.

MR. T. R. WALTON writes from Atlanto that the Lincoln county people there seem to be thriving. Sam Lackey is in a broker's bank and doing well.

HON. R. H. TOMLINSON, of Garrard, who made such a good representative in the last legislature, is announced as a candidate for re-election and will likely have no opposition in hisown party.

HON. G. G. GILBERT, of Shelby, was here Sunday en route to Lancaster, where he spoke yesterday in the interest of his candidacy for attorney general. He is a man of much ability and is making the race to win. His father was born and raised in this county and it was from his forefathers that Gilbert's Creek got its name. He also lives in our congressional district, giving him two claims upon us.

THE directors of the Knob Lick, McCormack's Church and Turnersville turnpike will let 1,250 yards of road to the lowest and best bidder at McCormack's church, March 7th.

WALKER HAMPTON suffered a painful accident yesterday. He was peeping down the pipe of a steam generator when it blew out a lot of hot water into his face, scalding him badly and nearly putting out one eye.

HURRAH for us! The water works are in sight, electric lights will follow and the street car line to Rowland will be opened. Stanford is awaking from her Rip Van Winkle nap and is going to take her proper position in the march of progress. Every public-spirited citizen will vote for the water works. Keep the ark a-moving.

THIEVES entered the meat-house of Mr. John Blain Saturday night and got off with a 50-pound can of lard. They had prepared to carry off numerous other things, but Mrs. Blain awakened and raised an alarm, which frightened them off. We hope to record at an early day the sudden and violent death of some of these midnight marauders.

IN LUCK.—Mr. Frank Harris, the pleasant gentleman and popular and efficient master of trains on the Knoxville division of the L. & N., received from his friends on the Henderson division the other day a beautiful Knights Templar charm studded with diamonds and a handsome set of 16th century chairs and card table, as a token of the high esteem in which they hold him. Mr. Harris is one of the most popular officials on the L. & N. both with the railroad men and with the people, and deserves these splendid tokens of esteem.

OATS, clover and timothy seed at J. B. Foster's. *

SUNDAY was a lovely day and yesterday was not very far behind.

THE jury in Eb Gooden's case on trial at Pineville was hung at last accounts.

A CARD from Mr. and Mrs. Percy W. Rochester announces the birth on the 13th of Aimee Letitia Rochester.

I WILL furnish lime at 25 cents a bushel at Stanford, Lancaster or anywhere in the neighborhood. I also have a lot of brick to sell. Fred Krueger. *

A CAR on freight 31, Capt. Keazley conductor, and Engineer Hummelstone, broke down on Brummett Hill Saturday and delayed all trains several hours.

THE inspection of watches on this division will be given again to Mr. A. R. Penny, who originally had it. Mr. Robert Fenzel has the position at present.

THE through train over the K. C., between Cincinnati, Middlesboro, Jellico and Cumberland Gap, which was put on the 16th, leaves Cincinnati daily at 8:10 A. M., arriving at Livingston at 3:05, P. M., Middlesboro at 7:25 and Jellico at 6:20. Returning leaves Middlesboro at 6.55 A. M., and arrives at Cincinnati at 5.50 P. M.

THE decision of the court of appeals making county judges responsible to wards if they do not make an annual inquiry into the solvency of the guardians' securities, is producing good effect. Judge Varnon has not fied every guardian in the county to appear before him and give increased security, if that they have is not sufficient.

MIDDLESBORO has had another failure. J. Kirby Smith, the largest hardware and stove dealer, has been forced to assign. The News says Judge Boyd fined a number of Middlesboro men $30 and costs for failing to answer a summons to serve on a jury at Pineville. An effort was made to increase the city tax from $1 on the $100, but the council decided to let it remain at that figure.

THE alarm of the fire bell at 11:15 yesterday drew nearly all of the town to Macksville, but it was too late to do any good. Becky Lee's residence and all of her furniture, save a bed and her trunk, was burned and the wonder is that the adjacent buildings hadn't followed suit. The house belonged to Andy Wallace, a colored man at Indianapolis, and was worth perhaps $250.

MANCHESTER.—In remitting for his paper, our good democratic friend, W. C. Pitman, sends us these items from Clay: Robinson, for killing Elisha Young, a one-armed man, was held by the court yesterday in $4,000 bond, which he has not filled as yet. A petition was being circulated yesterday to pardon Tom Howard, who was convicted to the penitentiary court before last for the murder of his nephew over some lands. The Land Co., promises to resume work in this county in a few days.

THE city council, very wisely we think, reconsidered its action submitting the question of subscribing $20,000 to build water works and decided to call an election for March 14, to take the sense of the people of the town on subscribing an amount not to exceed $10,000 for the purpose, the rest of the amount necessary having been guaranteed by responsible persons. We hope and believe the proposition will carry. It was too big a thing for the town to put $20,000 in any one item, besides the enterprise will be much better managed by a board of directors having a pecuniary interest in its success. Under the act all the fines and forfeitures and half of all the license tax are to go to a sinking fund to pay the bonds at their maturity 30 years hence. We can by the new proposition get the water works without increasing taxation and if the question is decided in the affirmative have them in operation by August 1.

TO HANG.—Mr. L. M. Lasley received the following dispatch from Live Oak, Fla., Saturday: "Verdict murder in the first degree. Garner attones for your brother's blood by hanging. B. B. Blackwell." It will be remembered that last November Garner killed Mr. Tom Lasley, formerly of this county, in a most dastardly manner. Garner was a very desperate character and when Mr. Lasley was police judge of Branford, he had him put in jail for some of his reprehensible acts. He swore vengeance against the judge, but he made no attempt to carry out his threats until the night of the tragedy, several months afterwards. In the meantime, Mr. Lasley was taken sick with a lingering fever and was confined for a long time. Still quite weak, he managed to walk to his store the night he was killed, when he found on entering that Garner and another man were there. "I'm waiting for you," said Garner. Lasley asked him what he wanted and he replied: "You had me put in jail and by God you shall die." Attempting to walk by him Lasley said, "I won't have any more trouble with you," when Garner with an oath shot him down and continued to shoot into his prostrate body until life was extinct. Lasley was very popular in his new home and Garner barely escaped lynching. The trial was called last week and the above facts being proven, the jury was but a few minutes in bringing in a verdict of death, which we hope will be executed at the earliest moment.

JUST received a large assortment of purses and pocket books and the newest and most stylish designs in fine stationery. W. B. McRoberts. *

SHOT.—Henry Logan, who belongs to a family of very mean negroes, shot Charley Greenleaf in the right thigh, at a ball at Green Gill's, Saturday night, breaking the bone. He was lodged in jail next day to await the result of the injury. One of Logan's brothers died in the penitentiary from a pistol shot wound inflicted by Mrs. Pete Cain when he tried to break into her house. Another of his brothers staid in jail a long time under a charge of rape and Henry himself is not having his first experience behind the bars.

5,117.—Stanford is one town that is not going to kick because her population was not fully enumerated. The figures show that she is the largest town in all this section. Under date of Feb. 20, the superintendent of the census, Robert P. Porter, sends us the following: "Referring to your favor of the 17th inst., I beg leave to say that Stanford, Lincoln county, Ky., has a population of five thousand, one hundred and seventeen (5,117) according to the official count of the returns made under the 11th census."

THE Cash-Young tragedy is the absorbing topic now and as many erronious statements are being published, we give a few facts. It was Mrs. Cash who originally sued for divorce. She was Miss Annie Drve and married Cash, who was a widower, when quite young. A number of children were born to them, though it was said they never lived very happily together. She claimed that he treated her badly from the first, and on more than one occasion she left him and sought the parental roof, afterwards becoming reconciled and returning to him.

In the summer of 1889, she came to Stanford and sought Messrs. Welch and Alcorn for the purpose of bringing a suit for divorce and alimony against her husband. She was in a sorry plight indeed, her eyes being blackened, her ears torn nearly off and abrasions and bruises appearing on all exposed parts of her body. She claimed that Mr. Cash had beat her because some cucumbers were not properly attended to for pickling and said he was in the habit of beating and otherwise cruelly mistreating her. Col. Welch, recalling the poem "Betsy and I are out," advised her not to do anything rash, but to get perfectly cool before taking such extreme action. "Wait a month," said he, "and then if you are still determined I will bring the suit." A month passed. She again appeared and the suit was brought, the grounds set forth being cruel and inhuman treatment and conduct such as to show a settled aversion to her.

When the papers were served on Mr. Cash he began to fortify himself with proof of her infidelity to the marriage vow and engaging Miller & Owsley, Judge M. J. Durham and Robert Harding he had them to file a cross petition, setting forth that his wife had frequently and with divers men during the last five years, committed adultery and behaved in so lewd and lascivious a manner as to prove her unchase and unfit to be the custodian of their children, whose care he asked and other proper relief. This put a new aspect on the case and when the two met and Mr. Cash confronted her with the proof, she broke down and confessed all, implicating Mr. Young and nearly a dozen others in her disgrace. She then wrote to Judge Morrow, saying she wished to withdraw her suit and her attorneys very properly arose and asked that their names be stricken from the record as counsel. Cash was granted a divorce and then he engaged Mrs. Cash to take care of the children, renting and furnishing a house for her at Turnersville.

His next step was to have the men who had wronged him indicted by the grand jury, but failing, except in one case, he instituted a number of suits for damages, laying his claims at $50,000. Several of the defendants, thinking discretion the better part of valor and in order to prevent further scandal, compromised with his attorneys and paid from $500 to $1,000 each for the dismissal of the suits. One only resisted and a suit is now pending against him in the Barren circuit court for $50,000. For a long time Cash went around armed with pistols and a double-barreled shot gun, creating more or less terror among those he suspected. The last time we saw him he showed us a budget of letters to his wife from various men, including the victim of his anger, which were of the most compromising nature. "Some folks are down on me now," said he, "but when the truth is known, as I intend that it shall be by having these letters printed at the proper time, together with other facts, the tide of public sentiment will turn and people will see that I have been more sinned against than sinning."

On our fourth page we give extracts from Dallas and other papers relative to the terrible affair and accounts of the cold-blooded and brutal manner in which Cash followed up his victim and slew him without a moment's warning. The statement that Mr. Young was unkind to his wife is not believed by those who knew him and we hope it is but the figment of the imagination of an unfriendly reporter. All the actors in the terrible affair have found that the way of the transgressor is hard and not only brought scandal on themselves, but shame and mortification to their families and friends. The seventh commandment is a mighty good one to follow.

Cash writes to his attorney here, Mr. J. S. Owsley, Jr., that his trial was set for Saturday 1 st, but we have not heard how it resulted. He had employed Lawyer Russell, the leading attorney, to defend him.

Two deaf mutes at Danville took an excursion to Junction City Sunday and returned on the fast train that does not stop at Danville, but that did not prevent them from getting off. The train was running 40 miles an hour when they jumped. Wm. Dudley was seriously hurt, but Baxter Young escaped with slight bruises.

The Cash-Young Tragedy.

A dispatch from Dallas, Texas, to the St. Louis Globe-Democrat gives the following additional particulars of the killing of E. T. Young by Clark Cash, after stating that it was one of the most cold-blooded murders ever perpetrated in Texas:

The tragedy took place in the presence of 500 persons on Main street, opposite Mr. Young's place of business. That gentleman was standing on the sidewalk when a middle-aged, well-dressed stranger stepped up to him and remarked, "Hello, Ed," at the same time placing a pistol almost against his body. Two shots were fired in quick succession and Young reeled and fell to the ground. The murderer then threw the gun aside and drawing one of larger calibre, a 44 Smith & Wesson, he raised the head of the dying man and sent another ball crushing through the skull, remarking: "D—n you, you have ruined my wife and four children!"

Officer Milner seized the man and hurried him to the police station just in time to escape the clutches of an enraged and excited mob. Young was removed to a drug store, where he died shortly after without uttering a word. At the police station the prisoner was searched. Two large revolvers, a large dirk knife and $265 in cash were found on his person. The correspondent asked him why he had slain Young. The prisoner asked for a pencil and paper and penned the following note:

"Ed T. Young has been guilty of the seduction and alleniation of the affections of my wife, and I wish to say to the good people of the city of Dallas and State of Texas to just take me and do as they please, for my life, caused by this said Young, is a living death. My mind is in a state of wild unrest and heart beating high. A sickening dread invades my heart all the while, though my bosom heaves madly with the wild beating of my heart with love for my little children, which are a nice little set of folks, if I do say it myself.

Respectfully to the world,

W. C. CASH."

Before an additional statement could be obtained, under a strong guard the prisoner was hustled off to the county jail and placed in a strong cell. There he made the following statement:

"My name is W. C. Cash. I am from McKinney, Lincoln county, Ky. Ed Young, the man I killed, was my dearest friend. In 1881 we were neighbors. In 1881 he debauched my wife and ruined my home; July 22, 1889, I discovered her perfidy and obtained a divorce. I came to Dallas to-day to square accounts with Ed Young and I am glad I killed him. I agree with Sam Jones that sin must be destroyed."

He says he has powerful friends in Kentucky, but does not care for the future. Young, the dead man, was about 40 years of age, and belonged to one of the best families in Kentucky. He was well to do, had an elegant home, and his wife was one of the most accomplished ladies in the city and connected by blood ties with a number of the most influential families. He has been a resident of Dallas for three years, and was very popular with all classes. Public feeling runs high against his slayer.

The Dallas Daily Times-Herald corroberates the above and gives these additional statements: A reporter asked Cash when he arrived in the city. He replied: "At 11 o'clock to-day. I had a photograph of Young's stable and knew my ground. This evening I saw him enter a saloon. I followed him. He took a drink and stepped outside. I followed him and called, "Hello, Ed Young!" He turned and faced me. The wrong I suffered at his hands maddened me. I drew my gun and shot him. To make sure I shot him with a larger gun."

"You have been drinking hard, have you not?"

"I have kept up on stimulants for the past three months. For the past three weeks I have not partaken of sufficient solid food to keep a canary alive. But my work is done. He brought disgrace on my children and they shall not be the only ones to suffer."

Edwin T. Young was well-known in Dallas. He came here three years ago and had made money in the livery business. He was a tall, finely formed man, in the prime of life, and was looked upon as a dangerous citizen when in his cups. Still he was popular with those who were not aware of the "skeleton in the closet" of his private life. He had a most accomplished wife and interesting family. The former comes from one of the best families in Kentucky and her relatives in this city are among the prominent people. Young himself was highly connected and well educated. He was a man of violent passions, however, and wrecked his own life, if the sad truth must be told. He drank heavily at times and was uncontrollable when under the influence of liquor. A month or six weeks ago he departed suddenly for Hot Springs without deigning to say a word to his family. It may not be proper to touch upon the private life of a man who is not here to speak for himself, but the truth is that, according to those in possession of the facts, Young was cruel in his treatment and neglected those who by every tie appealed to his manhood for protection and care. His wife and children are now in Kentucky with their relatives, Mrs. Young having become discouraged when her husband took his flight to Hot Springs.

The dead man knew that there was trouble brewing and he was anxious to dispose of his property in Dallas. He had been heard to say at intervals that he wanted to sell out and go elsewhere and had been negotiating for the sale of his stable and other property.

Public sentiment, which at first was strongly against Cash, has changed and when the alleged facts became known the tide began to turn in his favor.

CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION.

—The section of the legislative report excluding railroad officers and attorneys from the general assembly was very properly defeated.

—After spending a whole day on the section prohibiting divorce except for adultery, the question was left to the legislature by a vote of 38 to 23.

—The section of the report referring to the location of the State capital and an appropriation of $2,500,000 for buildings, was stricken out, but it will come up later in the report on location.

—As predicted the convention refused to reduce the legislative representation from 100, though they fixed the senatorial membership at 30. The inhibition against preachers holding these offices was continued. The legislative session was limited to 60 days.

—Let the members of the constitutional convention prove their faith by their works. Having condemned the use of railroad passes every mother's son of them should seize his grip and hoof it home. Do this at once and all will be forgiven.—Louisville Times.

FARM AND TRADE ITEMS.

—Henry Hester sold to Taylor House a young horse for $130.

—M. F. Elkin & Co. bought of Sim A. Middleton two 1,200 pound steers at 3 cts.

—One farmer alone in Clark county lost $500 worth of sheep by dogs last week.

—FOR SALE.—A good milk cow with a young calf. Apply to Jno. M. McRoberts, Jr.

—C. E. Bitters' stable at Paris burned and with it five fine horses. Loss $12,000, insurance $5,000.

—Dogs killed two and tore six others of Mr. W. P. Tate's sheep to pieces. Shoot the worthless curs.

—During the six days 364 head of horses have been sold at Lexington for $304,046, an average of $807.84.

—The Somerset Reporter says that Tate & Cattle bought 20 head 800-pound cattle at $20 and sold 20 head at $21.

—The Lebanon Enterprise reports sales of 5 jacks at $700 to $800. Mattingly & Co. sold 500 slop cattle to a Chicago firm at 5 cents. They were bought at 2¼.

—Capt. N. B. Riley, of Allensville, sold this week to J. M. Leer, a well-known breeder of Eastern Kentucky, 10 jack colts six months old at an average of $250.

—The Elizabethtown News says Joplin & Mercer bought of Sims & Mattingly 17 mules for $2,460, making 300 that they have bought this year at prices ranging from $85 to $150.

—Anteeo, 2:16¼, by Electioneer, dam Columbine, was sold at the combination sale at Lexington to S. A. Browne, of Kalamazoo, for $55,000. Browne resold the stallion the same day to H. S. Henry, of Philadelphia, for $60,000 and the season, making $65,000 in all.

—The wheat crop is looking finely and in many cases it is as far advanced as it is sometimes in May. The stand is very heavy and the fields are unusually luxuriant. In some cases it has already commenced to joint. Should the worst of the winter weather come in March, as last year, much of it will be ruined.

—W. J. Moore has had 84 lambs dropped this season, the product of 64 ewes. R. P. Scobee sold to James Smith, of Madison, 37 medium yearling mules at $70. J. T. Stewart sold a car-load of cattle at Cincinnati, which cost him 3 cents per hundred, and lost $3.50 per head. E. P. Faulconer bought 50 head of thoroughbred ewes, by imported bucks and out of imported ewes, in Michigan, paying $1,000 for them.—Harrodsburg Democrat.

DANVILLE.—The trial of the negoes, Pomp Bates and George Ward, for the killing of Marshal Wells, of Junction City, is set for next Thursday.—Misses Jennie McKinney and Eliza Eliza Kennedy, of Hustonville, visited Miss Nannie Reid this week.—By the death of his first cousin, Mrs. Sarah E. Roach, of Scott county, Mr. Charles P. Ball, of this city, falls heir to a good portion of a large estate, valued at $100,000 to $125,000.—About $150 was subscribed here Thursday afternoon for Mrs. Geo. Wells, of Junction City, whose husband was recently killed there. Marshal Wells had six small children and his widow is left a house in Junction City on which there is a lien of $300. The money raised is to pay off the lien. Officer Thos. Helm, of this city, has the subscription paper. —H. H. & D. A. Colyer shipped on Monday to Butler, Mo., 16 jacks that were bought in Madison and 12 other counties at a cost of $11,000. This is the largest shipment of jacks that ever left the county and they were large and fine ones. The average is about $700, but some of them cost considerably more.—The cases against the drug stores for selling whisky on doctors' prescriptions were continued.—Green Lay was given 21 years for killing Pokie Coulter at Junction City.—Advocate.

Grover Cleveland left a surplus in the treasury of $54,000,000. Senator Carlisle, a man who can be trusted not to mistate a fact for the sake of partisanship, says that at the end of the present fiscal year, June 30, there will be a deficit of $14,000,000 and at the end of the next this deficit will be $84,000,000. This with the revenues steadily increasing, shows pretty conclusively that four years more of Cleveland are a necessity to even things up.—Richmond Register.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK

OF STANFORD, KY

Capital Stock	$200,000
Surplus	16,500

Attention of the public is invited to the fact that this is the only National Bank in Stanford. Under the provisions of the National Bank Act, depositors are secured not only by the capital stock, but by the stockholders' liability for an amount equal to the stock, so that depositors of this institution are secured by a fund of $400,000. Five sworn statements of the condition of the bank are made each year to the United States government and its assets are examined at stated times by government agents, thus securing additional and perfect safety to depositors.

This institution, originally established as the Deposit Bank of Stanford in 1858, then re-organized as the National Bank of Stanford in 1865 and again re-organized as the First National Bank of Stanford in 1882, has had practically an uninterrupted existence of 32 years. It is better supplied now with facilities for transacting business promptly and liberally than ever before in its long and honorable career. Accounts of corporations, fiduciaries, firms and individuals respectfully solicited.

The Directory of this Bank is composed of

NO CURE, NO PAY.

NO CURE, NO PAY.

The MAGIC REMOVER fills a long felt want with owners of Horses or Mules with Warts, Knots, Bruises, Cuts, Strains, Sprains, Old Sores, Barb Wire Cuts, etc. It makes no difference how long the knot has been there, or how hard it is, (if it is not of the bone,) we will take it off on the "NO CURE, NO PAY" plan. In removing the knot the hair comes off, and the place becomes very sore; when you stop using it, the hair comes back its original color, and not a trace of the knot is left. For plan of insurance, etc., call at the undersigned druggist's, and bring your animal with you.
